My Boss Said What??

Busting myths at the LCBO

Myth:

OPSEU agreed to give up Sunday premiums and open new agency stores in exchange for casual wage increases

The Real Story:

We did not agree to end the Sunday premium or add a single new agency store.

In the November settlement, we only agreed to discuss these issues and hear the employer's arguments.

After reviewing the LCBO's case, we took a firm position that the employer hadn't shown the need to eliminate Sunday premiums or close retail stores.
